Ddddddddd Numb. 5046

The Daily Courant.

Saturday, December 21, 1717.

THE following Address of the House of Commons of Ireland, having been transmitted hither by His Grace the Duke of Bolton, Lord Lieutenant, has been presented to his Majesty.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address of the Knights, Citizens and Burgesses in Parliament assembled.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Commons of Ireland in Parliament assembled, being deeply sensible of your Majesty's Care of the Welfare of your Faithful Subjects of this your Kingdom, and of the Security they enjoy in the free Exercise of their Sacred and Civil Rights under your gracious Protection, do with great Humility approach your Royal Throne, to represent to your Majesty the fatal Consequences which will inevitably follow from the Reversal of any of the Outlawries of the Rebellious Irish Papists.

We beg Leave to lay before your Majesty, that the greatest Part of the Titles which your British and Protestant Subjects of Ireland have to their Estates, are derived under the Attainders for the Rebellion in 1641, and 1688. And as the Irish, by the Forfeiture of their Estates became least able to put in Execution their treasonable Designs; so by recovering the Blood of their Nobility, and depriving them and their Posterity of their Hereditary Titles and Honours by Reason of the Outlawries for High Treason, they have had less Power and Credit with their Followers to lead them into Rebellion. And this was so well understood, that no Outlawry was ever reversed, or Person guilty of the Rebellion of [illegible] Reversed, until the Attainder of the Governments of the late Earl of Tyrconnel, about the Year 1687, when the Design to extirpate the British and Protestant Interest, and to establish Popery and Arbitrary Power, was openly and avowedly declared.

We do with the greatest Gratitude acknowledge, that since your Majesty's Accession no Outlawry for either of the Rebellions of 1641, or 1688, has been Reversed; but a very bold and dangerous Attempt having been lately made by Henry Power, Son of John Power, commonly call'd Lord Power, as we conceive, towards the Reversal of his Ancestors Indictments and Outlawries for both Rebellions. We cannot on this Occasion, but in Duty to your Majesty and our Country, humbly, and with the greatest Submission, represent, that it will be of the most fatal Consequence to your faithful Subjects of this Kingdom, if any such Applications should succeed, or even meet with the least Encouragement. And we rely on your Majesty's Wisdom, Justice, and Goodness, that no Favours so dangerous to your Crown, and so destructive to your good Subjects, will ever be obtained from your Royal Clemency.

We beseech your Majesty to be assured, that it is our Zeal for the Safety of your Government, the Peace and Security of this your Kingdom, and the faithful Discharge of the Trust reposed in us by those we represent, which have obliged us thus earnestly to implore your Royal Protection, Grace and Favour, on which your faithful Commons will at all times, most absolutely and entirely depend.

And that thereupon his Grace was pleased to return the Answer following.

I Will take Care to lay your Address before his Majesty in the most effectual Manner, for the Security of the Protestant Interest in this Kingdom.

that the same Unanimity and good Disposition with which it began, has continued thro' every part of it.

As this has proceeded from our Steady and Unalterable Resolution to do every thing in our Power to make his Majesty's Reign Easy and Glorious: So it is the most convincing Proof of the Wisdom and Justice of your Grace's Administration, which has been to the entire Satisfaction of his Majesty's faithful Commons, and for which we take this Opportunity of returning your Grace our humble Thanks.

We are highly sensible of the many Obligations the Protestants of this Kingdom lie under to your Grace for your favourable Representations of their Actions to his Majesty, and obtaining the many good Laws which have been transmitted this Session out of Great-Britain, and particularly that for Regulating the Corporation of Gallway; and doubt not but upon your nearer Approach to his Majesty, you will continue the same tender Regard for the Welfare of this Kingdom, which you have shewn thro' the whole Course of your Government, and will lay all our Actions in such a Light before his Majesty, as may induce him to continue his Royal Favour and Protection to us.
